

Skilling Queenslanders for work

First Nations Futures Employment Pathways Program

Your pathway to employment starts here

This Community Work Skills program offers tailored training for Aboriginal or Torres Strait Islander peoples living in Toowoomba and the Darling Downs. You'll be supported at each step to develop work ready skills and gain a nationally recognised qualification.

If you're currently unemployed and looking to take a step toward new skills and employment opportunities - then we'd like to hear from you.

Program Commencing April 2025

Scan and Apply

Delivered in partnership with

This Skilling
Queenslanders for Work project is proudly funded by the Queensland Government.

About the Program

The First Nations Futures: Employment Pathways Program will help you build the skills and confidence needed to succeed in the workforce.

Designed for First Nations peoples, this Program includes:

- Completion of a nationally recognised qualification
- Mentoring and guidance from local Indigenous leaders
- The chance to meet with local employers through Industry Immersion Days
- Access to additional training to enhance your job readiness and future employment prospects

Join us to develop your skills, gain valuable experience, and take the leap towards starting work.

Nationally Recognised Qualification

Provider: EDB Training

Training: Develop industry and job specific skills by completing a TLI20421 Certificate II in Supply Chain Operations.

Industry Tickets & Licenses

Gain additional certifications such as a White Card (Construction), Forklift licence, and Elevated Work Platform training.

First Nations Mentor Support

You will be paired with a First Nations mentor from Program partners Mandana or Sarina Russo Group.

Job Placement Support

The First Nations Futures Program includes comprehensive job placement support to help you transition smoothly into the workforce. This support covers career guidance, resume and interview preparation, employer connections, and workplace readiness.

Visit migas.com.au/fnfpathways to read more about the program and to apply online.

1300 464 427

programs@migas.com.au

migas.com.au

6 Ann Street, Toowoomba
(TSBE Building)

Program Mentors

With over 20 years of experience in the employment space, Jeff Chaseling brings a wealth of knowledge and expertise to his role as a mentor in the First Nations Futures Program. Jeff has a strong focus on connecting with diverse individuals, helping them explore career paths, and re-engage with meaningful employment opportunities. His passion and commitment to empowering people to achieve their goals make him an invaluable asset to the program.

Jeff Chaseling
Mentor,
First Nations
Futures Program

Violet Geesu is a proud Indigenous woman, her Father is Meriam, (Murray Island) Eastern Torres Straits, with her Mum (Grandmother) Darumbal Country and Dad (Grandfather) Vanuatu, Tanna Island. Violet has had the opportunity to work in the areas of Employment, Apprenticeship Services, Training, Education, as well as the Performing Arts within remote, regional, and urban First Nations communities in Australia.

VIOLET GEESU
Indigenous Services Manager,
Sarina Russo

MIGAS Apprentices & Trainees acknowledges Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander peoples as the Traditional Custodians of the land. Through our actions we strive to honour Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander histories, cultures and traditions. Our commitment is to find ways to demonstrably and authentically connect with Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander peoples to grow workforce participation through training and employment pathways.

Program Inclusions

Preparing for the Program

Each participant will join a discussion to support you to prepare. We take the time to learn more about you, how we can support you and give you the best opportunity to successfully complete the Program and transition into employment. During this preparation stage, we will host weekly face-to-face workshops. These sessions will preview the program, introduce you to your First Nations mentor, focus on skills development, and give you the opportunity to meet potential employers.

First Nations Mentor Support

You will be paired with a First Nations mentor from Program partners Mandana or Sarina Russo Group. Your mentor will support you from the start of the program until you transition into employment, ensuring you receive guidance and support from someone who can appreciate your perspective and journey.

Job Skills Training

The TLI2042 Certificate II in Supply Chain Operations delivered by EDB Training will equip you with the foundational knowledge and skills needed to begin a career in supply chain and warehousing.

This course will equip you with skills that can be used in other workplaces and industries even if you do not wish to pursue a career in warehousing.

Job Placement Support

The First Nations Futures Program includes comprehensive job placement support to help you transition smoothly into the workforce. This support covers career guidance, resume and interview preparation, employer connections, and workplace readiness.

Visit migas.com.au/fnfpathways to read more about the program and to apply online.

1300 464 427

programs@migas.com.au

migas.com.au

6 Ann Street, Toowoomba
(TSBE Building)